Sherr Institute Offers Course On Understanding The Mahzor

On two Tuesday evenings in September, September 17 and 24, Rabbi Jules Harlow will conduct a class in a careful study of some of the main prayers in the High Holy Day Prayerbook.

Rabbi Jules Harlow

Rabbi Harlow, Director of Publications for the Rabbinical Assembly, is a dynamic force in the reevaluation of liturgy for us moderns. A specialist as an editor, translator and compiler of liturgy, he has been instrumental in the work of the committee which produced new editions of the Weekday Prayer Book and of the Selihot service; the new Haggadah, The Feast of Freedom; our new prayerbook, Siddur Sim Shalom; and the Rabbinical Assembly Mahzor for Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur.

The Rabbinical Assembly has published his edition of prayers for a house of mourning, The Bond of Life, and Yearnings and Yearnings II, prayer and meditations to supplement High Holy Day services.

His interests have also extended to editing children's textbooks, the writings of modern Hebrew writers, articles for Jewish art exhibit catalogues, ecumenical journals, film and television.

What a rare opportunity to gain insight into liturgy known only by rote, taught by a master teacher and in time for the High Holy Day season.

The class will meet from 8:15 — 9:30 p.m. Tuition is $16 for members; $20 for nonmembers and $24 for member families.

Prior to the service, at 8:15 p.m., the congregation is invited to a coffee hour after which Rabbi Wechsler will deliver the Selihot lecture on "A Guilty Conscience" at 9 p.m. And just before the start of the service itself, the Synagogue Choir, with Neil Robinson at the organ, will present a choral meditation.

Park Avenue Synagogue Has A New Organ

Park Avenue Synagogue has a new organ, replacing the original organ, now beyond repair, which was built into the Sanctuary building when it was constructed in 1926.

The new organ is a digital computer organ, custom built by the Allen Organ Company, which has installed digital computer organs in synagogues, churches and concert halls worldwide, including the Mann Auditorium in Tel Aviv.

In collaboration with Neil Robinson, our organist, and Cantor David Lefkowitz, the new organ has been designed to meet the specific needs of Park Avenue Synagogue, as well as for the interpretation of all schools of organ literature and the accompaniment of great choral works.

Some of the custom features are a large variety of soft string stops, solo voices that add versatility for weekly services, and an Orchestral Harp Stop designed for Park Avenue Synagogue. Also, an Antiphonal Organ division is provided in the dome of the sanctuary and a Festival Trumpet may be used for occasions demanding fanfares and flourishes.

The technology employed in building the digital computer tone generation system is a result of knowledge acquired in the Apollo Space Program. The construction concept, known as large-scale integrations (LSI), uses MOS chips that shrink thousands of individual components into a single package less than the size of a dime.

The advantages of the Allen Digital Computer Organ go beyond its tonal benefits. Expensive periodic tuning maintenance is eliminated. The

Lamed

At times one is prone to wax nostalgic — this is one of those times. Why the nostalgia? For a very simple reason. This is my thirtieth Rosh Hashanah with you. Permit me a bit of playful interpretation of the number 30.

As you know, each Hebrew letter has a numerical equivalent. The letter for 30 is Lamed. As you also know, each Hebrew verb root has three letters and the letters for “study” are lamed, mem and daled, the same letters that spell Lamed.

As I look back over these almost 30 years, I am encouraged by the thought that we have spent these years in trying to learn and to study together. Our synagogue serves so many different functions — a place to pray, a meeting place, a place that we like to call our home away from home. But it seems to me that learning is at the root of all of our activities. We have spent our years trying to delve a little more deeply into the reservoir of living waters that is Judaism. This has been a joint enterprise. For my part I have always tried to interpret the meaning of all that we think and do through the great wisdom and vigor of our tradition. But it has not been a one way street. As much as I have tried to teach, I have learned even more from you, my friends. I have learned about commitment, about loyalty and about devotion to a great institution. We have been through so much together. But most of all, we have learned, we have studied and we shall continue to do so. That is the highest purpose of our synagogue — to make learning an ongoing and neverending process.

With these thoughts in mind, my family and I wish you and yours a year of great happiness in a world of peace.

— Judah Nadich

Tinok Center Opening As Aid To New Parents

Announcing the opening of The Tinok Center, under the direction of Carol Schapiro Kekst on October 8.

Tinok is Hebrew for "baby" and the Tinok Center is a resource center for new parents eager to master the art of caring for their infant children.

Meeting weekly for nine Wednesday afternoons, beginning October 8, there will be two classes: from 1:30 — 3 p.m. for babies from birth to 12 months; from 3 — 4:30 p.m. for youngsters 12 to 24 months old.

There will be a spring semester as well, beginning in January and also meeting for nine weeks but in the morning.

Classes involve a hands-on study of infant and child development to help parents enjoy their children more. The Jewish home will be discussed and there will be one session devoted to a "Father's Sunday". As the children are the focal point of the Tinok Center, they should accompany mothers (or fathers) to the weekly sessions.

Tuition: $64 for members; $80 for non-members.

Ms. Roiphe will explore a burning issue which confronts the American Jewish community today: "What Makes Jewish Women Proud".

Ms. Roiphe and her husband and family are members of Park Avenue Synagogue. It is her daughter, Katie, who with her classmate Amy Harmon, initiated the involvement of the High School and synagogue in the Food Pantry, an ongoing activity which has received commendation from the congregation, the community and City Council.

Ms. Roiphe's last book, "Generation Without Memory: A Jewish Journey in Christian America", received much attention. She has also written on other subjects of contemporary interest.

Refreshments, of course. There will be a Question & Answer period.

An Open Letter To Parents

Dear Parents,

The Officers of Parents Association extend a warm welcome to parents of new and returning students in the Early Childhood Center, the Religious School and the High School.

Parents Association endeavors through its activities to enhance the educational experience of our children. Our annual Book Fair [November 16-19, 1986] enables parents to enlarge their children's library with age-appropriate Judaica and fun-filled and educational materials which complement the curricula in our schools. Our various fundraising activities help us to supplement our schools' resources. In addition, we sponsor several holiday celebrations for the children and decorate the congregational Sukkah. Evening meetings and speakers address issues of concern to us as parents.

We hope that you will demonstrate your commitment to your children's education at Park Avenue Synagogue through your participation in our activities. Please plan to join us at our first open meeting on October 15, to meet with the directors of our schools, Edith Paul and Rahel Bloch and to welcome Dr. Livia Straus, the new principal of our High School.

If you wish to volunteer your time or expertise, especially for the November Book Fair, please leave your name and telephone number for me with the Synagogue office.

We look forward to seeing you in the coming year.

Our Simhat Torah Honorees

During services on Simhat Torah, Sunday, October 26, three members of our congregation will be honored for their service to the synagogue and to the Jewish community. Philip Swartz will be called to the bimah as Hatah Torah; Hanna Lyttle as Kallah Mafteret and Philip Bernstein as Hatan Bereshit.

Philip Swartz

Phil Swartz is honored by the congregation for his many years of devotion to the well-being of his shul.

Known to congregants as the guiding light behind the Minyan Project, it is he who makes sure that there is a minyan every day at 5:45 p.m. in the Appleman Chapel, leading most of the services himself throughout the year.

A member of Park Avenue Synagogue for more than 35 years, he serves on the Ritual Committee, the Advisory Council of the Board of Trustees and as an usher during the High Holy Days and on Shabbat.

Mr. Swartz was born and raised in Taunton, Massachusetts. He graduated from the Bradford Durfee Textile Institute as a textile chemist. He worked for a number of textile and chemical firms, including one in Kingston, New York, where he met his wife, Hilda.

After 10 years in Kingston, he was asked to supervise the testing of materials for the United States Army in Philadelphia. After Pearl Harbor, he was put in charge of the Air Technical Services, specializing in parachutes, for the Army Air Force. After the war, he sold chemicals and corrugated containers in our tri-state area.

Widowed after 23 years of marriage, Mr. Swartz has devoted much of his time to Park Avenue Synagogue. Those who have attended the daily minyan through the years can always count on being warmly welcomed by him with a handshake and a wide smile.

His son, Mark, is a doctor married to a doctor, Vivian Hirshaut, the daughter of the late Julien Hirshaut, a renowned Yiddish writer. Mark is Associate Professor of Clinical Medicine (Cardiology) at the Mt. Sinai Medical Center and Vivian is Associate Attending of Ophthalmology at Montefiore Medical Center. They have an 8 year old daughter, Talia Hope. Mr. Swartz has one sister, Yettie, who lives in Pawtucket, Rhode Island.

Hanna Lyttle

Hanna Lyttle is honored as Kallah Mafteret for her service to Park Avenue Synagogue and to the Jewish community.

As the immediate past president of Sisterhood, Mrs. Lyttle, with great energy and creativity, concentrated on program, bringing to the synagogue speakers of note: Mayor Ed Koch, Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick and author Joan Peters, to name just a few.

Mrs. Lyttle is proud of the firm roots her family planted as committed and affiliated Jews. Her maternal grandparents, Zionists, made several voyages to Palestine in the early 1900s and her paternal grandfather, with whom she was very close, made aliyah at the age of 80 in the mid-thirties and was buried, nine years later, in the Mount of Olives Cemetery. Her great-uncle, Max Lowenstein, was one of the founders of Park Avenue Synagogue and became its second president in 1902. Her aunts attended Sunday School at Park Avenue Synagogue and her husband, the late Harry David Lyttle, and his family were members of our synagogue for many years.

She, herself, has given much time to Jewish causes throughout her adult life. A founder and president of the Gracie Square Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women for five years, she went on to serve on the New York Regional Board of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith for four years. Currently, she is a member of the ADL's National Mid-East Committee and the International Affairs Committee. She served as a delegate for the ADL and the Women's League for Conservative Judaism at the Paris Conference, held in July 1984, at which Jewish women from all over the world met to prepare for the International Women's Conference which was to take place the following year in Nairobi, Kenya. She was also designated a delegate to that conference.

She is a member of the Executive Board of the Plaza Chapter of the Women's Division of Technion and is a delegate to its Eastern Region Board.

As the president of Sisterhood, she became familiar with the work of the Women's League for Conservative Judaism, the umbrella organization serving the Conservative Sisterhoods nationwide. She has just been elected to the National Board to serve a two year term.

Mrs. Lyttle received her B.A. degree from Hunter College, majoring in French and English, and her Masters degree from Columbia University in Speech and Drama. Following graduation, she became a radio actress for a short while, reading poetry for radio station WNYC. She went on to become the first woman reporter for Chain Store Age Publications. Years later, after her son was grown, she became a speech teacher for the New York City Board of Education. She served as a speech pathologist, establishing speech therapy programs in several school districts in Manhattan. She conducted teacher training workshops and lectured on stuttering. For many years she maintained a private practice for adults and children.

Mrs. Lyttle has one son, Lawrence Andrew Lyttle, who celebrated his Bar Mitzvah with the congregation. He is now the Senior Vice President of Warner Brothers Television and lives in California. Her sister, Vivian Lowe, lives in Manhattan and is a former White House correspondent. Her brother, a lawyer, lives in Tenafly, New Jersey.

Philip Bernstein

The congregation honors Philip Bernstein as Hatan Bereshit for his years of outstanding service to the American Jewish community. He served as chief executive officer of the Council of Jewish Federations from 1955 until his retirement in August, 1979. He joined the Council in 1943 as Director of Field Services, became Associate Director in 1947, was named Executive Director in 1955 and became its Executive Vice President in 1967.

Before joining the Council, Mr. Bernstein was Assistant Director of the Cleveland Jewish Community Federation and Executive Secretary of the Cleveland Jewish Community Council for 9 years.

Since retiring as executive of the Council of Jewish Federations, he has served as a consultant to the CJF, the United Israel Appeal, several foundations and to UJA-Federation.

He has served on numerous boards in the philanthropic, academic and public sectors and has had articles published in many publications including the Journal of Jewish Communal Services, the Encyclopedia of Social Work, the American Jewish Yearbook, and the Social Work Yearbook. He is also the author of To Dwell in Unity, a recent history of Jewish Federations.

Mr. Bernstein is a graduate of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, of "high distinction", Phi Beta Kappa. He received his MS degree from Western Reserve University of Applied Social Sciences and was an instructor at the university for two years shortly after graduation. The university awarded him an honorary degree, Doctor of Laws, in 1966 and its Distinguished Service Award in 1981. He has also received honorary degrees from Baltimore Hebrew College (1978) and Hebrew Union College (1979).

The Bernstein family have been members of Park Avenue Synagogue for 20 years. He and his wife, Florence, have three children: Joel, Paul and Judith.

Services begin at 9:15 a.m. and the congregation is cordially invited to attend the kiddish on the Lower Level in honor of our honorees immediately following the service.

UJA Needs The Support Of The Jewish Community

Every year at this time, UJA/Federation appeals to the Jewish Community to set its sights high in support of the Jewish community here in the United States, overseas and in Israel.

The goal for the 1987 campaign is $150 million dollars. This goal represents the minimum to maintain existing services in the world-wide network of Jewish agencies supported by UJA/Federation. Last year, 650,000 Israelis were helped by UJA/Federation funds. Campaigns from around the world, including here in the United States, sent $444 million to Israel in 1986.

UJA/Federation provides aid and relief to disadvantaged Jews in 33 countries around the world through its beneficiary agency, the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee.

Here in New York, UJA/Federation serves nearly 2 million people, through a network of 130 agencies. Grants to local agencies by UJA/Federation amounted to a total of $55 million last year.

The needs are great and grow greater each year. This year, respond to this great need with an increased contribution to the UJA/Federation Campaign Appeal on Yom Kippur.

Rabbi Nadich Joins Community Study Program At 92nd St. YM-YWHA

Landlords Asked To Consider Subsidized Housing For Homeless New York Families

A serious appeal is being made by the Emergency Assistance Rehousing Program (EARP) of the City of New York to landlords to consider renting apartments to homeless families.

Generous monetary incentives are being offered to landlords who will rent apartments to families currently living in temporary accommodations.

The landlord is allowed to select the family to be rehoused and arrangements can be made to have rent mailed directly to the landlord. And, if the family should move after 32 months, the landlord would be allowed to raise the rent back to what it would have been with all the normal increases.
